The award given by GDUSA honors the best graphic design work of the year. Out of roughly 10,000 entries, a very selective 15 percent were awarded. M&R won for their work on Macon-Bibb County's Forward Together Strategic Plan Booklet.

"The winners of the 2016 American Graphic Design Awards are among the most talented and effective designers working today," said GDUSA Editor Gordon Kaye. "They are the best and brightest the creative community has to offer."

During the 2016 IFEA/Haas & Wilkerson Pinnacle Awards Ceremony last month, M&R Marketing Group won Gold for Best Organizational Website for their work on the new Cherry Blossom Festival website design and development.

The professional competition draws entries from among the world's top festivals and events. Over the last four years, M&R has won multiple IFEA awards for their work with the Festival.
